Lettenem Know

I know I loved you, 'cuz now I hate you, I'm locked in your dark double feature I'm not your mama, and I'm not the star of your melodrama, that silver screen ending can't be found.
And now there's no question. I'm so tired of this self-deception - dying for a drop of attention.

Moon is falling down down down
You keep calling around around around
You're up on my footsteps like a hound a hound a hound
You've got to find your way, got to find your way, you'll find your way.

I'm not a clinic, for emperor's tempers or intimate cynics, like you would love for me to be.
(I was) pressing the lever. Like a rat with a violent experimentor. Look who has control now, baby.
And now there's no question. I'm so tired of this self-
deception, dying for a drop of attention.

Moon is falling down down down
You keep calling around around around
You're up on my footsteps like a hound a hound a hound
You've got to find your way, got to find your way, you'll find your way.

Lick my heart then you smash it, it's like crawling after a dangling carrot, now I'm saying goodbye to you.
