

Good Life, The "Empty Bed"

out a little late, aren't you? what's out there i don't give you?
don't i drink and sleep with you? what you want you'll never get what you want is infinite you'll never get your fill of it so again you drink and you grind your teeth gnashing at the bit of this emptiness you can't swallow down it echoes in your mouth the words keep bouncing out up a little late, aren't you? you let an empty bed scare you still, i drink and sleep with you standing up to stay awake you start to blink and sway blacking out another day so again, you sleep and you grind your teeth on the kitchen floor you can't feel a thing that's what you prefer-yeah you found a cure for it uh-oh uh-oh
