I'd like to pretend that you and I were still friends you could make me laugh til I couldn't catch my breath but from now I will try to pretend you are still in my life and sometimes when the radio tunes into that song I choke back on my regret for the things that I said to you

and I'll run into you once in a while
with the words that fail me

girl I'm sorry
with my deepest honesty baby when silence follows you its a reminder of the mistake i will regret as much as it takes do you want out hearts to be torn wide open? and isn't it funny how hearts are meant to be broken like promises
