I mean this, I'm not sure if you could say the same
Week after week after week
Idolatry is wasted reverence
Idolatry is the yellow on your teeth

Gasp for the truth you once lived

Beyond this world
Beyond this world is what is always breathing
Beyond this world is worth dying for
Beyond this world is what is always breathing
Beyond this world is worth dying for Dying for

I remember what you used to claim
Why you used to cry
You can't bury conviction with anything

Our message will grow
Our message will grow

No matter the mistakes made within construction

Beyond this world is what is always breathing
Beyond this world is worth dying for
Beyond this world is what is always breathing
Beyond this world is worth dying for

Gasp for the truth you once lived

I pray that stolen glimpses
Do not subtract from what we've been building
Keep stride persistent in our march
Keep stride persistent in our march
