"Face Like Summer"

With a face like summer and hair like fire
Could you be the one to let in?
'Cause I know that's where it begins

So young in years probably end in tears
But I somehow don't mind
'Cause happiness is so hard to find

And I can still recall the sun going in North wind came along today
And blew my dreams away

And when she lies in the sun
She don't cover her skin
From sun that's too strong to come in

I know that's where it begins
And I know that's where it begins
