"Into Temptation"

you opened up your door I couldn't believe my luck you in your new blue dress taking away my breath the cradle is soft and warm couldn't do me no harm you're showing me how to give
into temptation
knowing full well the earth will rebel
a muddle of nervous words could never amount to betrayal the sentence is all my own the price is to watch it fail as I turn to go you looked at me for half a second with an open invitation for me to go
into temptation
knowing full well the earth will rebel

safe in the wide open arms of hell we can go sailing in climb down, lose yourself when you linger long
right where you belong the guilty get no sleep in the last slow hours of morning experience is cheap I should've listened to the warning but the cradle is soft and warm
into temptation
into your wide open arms no way to break the spell break this spell
don't tell
