think i've forgotten most of what it was i wasn't going to say words can be so black and white it should be easier to open up the box i locked away i've been at it most all night the end was just a souvenir of all the places we got near but none we ever stayed i disagree she said there's a lot of places this could lead i know love gets confused with need i disagree she cried can you feel my heart turn into stone from walking in this desert wind alone she liked pretending i could stop the world so we could be alone go up on the roof all night step off the ledge into the wind and never care where we were blown everything would turn all right

the end was just a souvenir
of all the castles we got near none we ever made and on and on and on she walked alone until her broken heart surrendered to the stone

of all the songs that we could hear none we ever played
