"Everything"

I try to find a place to rest but
Everything changes
A piece of shade on which to lie my head

The people watch i feel their eyes
I can't help my thinking
It's Man's new day they want me to believe
Everything

I know they notice
I notice they could never help
If you are with me why am i here?

We've gone so far we're losing
I see the writing
They march and scream, i watch them drown and die

I try to find a place to rest but
Everything's shaking
As this world fails i know i must now leave
Everything

I know they notice
I notice they'd rather pretend
I know that feeling, i just couldn't stay there

But i can't help thinking
They can't help thinking as they do
We've needed your hand
For so long
