I am just a girl who thinks this life we lead
Our destiny will follow
One half of the world's asleep, one half's awake
That's all it takes to follow

The sun that rises up is also setting too
So make the most of it before it sets on you

Don't follow, don't follow, follow through
Even if it's just this once, follow through

I am just a girl with thoughts unchained
There's nothing gained by sorrow
One half of the world's asleep, one half's awake
That's all it takes to wallow

This could be the start of a whole new shape of things
to come
Don't leave it halfway through, don't leave before it's done

Don't follow, don't follow, follow through
Even if it's just this once, follow through

This could be the start, this could be the start
This could be the start, this could be the start
This could be the start of a whole new shape of things
to come
Don't leave it halfway through, don't leave before it's
done

Don't follow, don't follow, follow through

The sun that rises up is also setting too
So make the most of it before it sets on you

Don't follow, don't follow, follow through
Even if it's just this once, follow through

Follow, follow through, follow, follow through
Follow, follow through, follow, follow through
Follow, follow through, follow, follow through

Follow, follow through, follow, follow through
