Slightly built, a light face upon grey hair
It was on the corner of a big and crowded square

Then he played that melody
Soft and warm like a symphony
It's so very close to me, that melody

To me

Ahooo

You can read in his eyes what he has been through
But what he played and so it seems he's happy too

Still I hear that melody
Soft and warm like a symphony
It's still very close to me, that melody

Ahooo

Ahooo

In the corner of a big, big crowded square
I came to listen once again but no one's there

Still I hear that melody
Soft and warm like a symphony
It's so very close to me, that melody

To me

Ahooo
