"We Want You"

Spread your wings and fly away
Join the army this very day

Big posters are roaring
This slogan from the walls
Of the city amusement halls
For once and for all

We want you

Now you're starting your career
Miles and miles away from here

In a country you've never been before
You are lost in an endless war
But Uncle Sam wants more

We want you

And then you're down and out my friend
All your dreams have come to an end

And in silence you will rest my son
Your illusions are dead
Who was it that once said

We want you
