I want a religion but I haven't got the time I want love at heart and I want peace of mind I wanna kneel & pray
I want a destiny but the path that I walked down wasn't where I want to be two roads and either suits me fine blinded in the dark blinded by the light

I see the east
worship the ground the stars & ancient archives I see the west
living on a faith for most of their lives

I want a religion something with a kick No native customs and no wardance for the sick don't want no sideshow don't need no magic trick no battlecries, I can't fall for it No turn from the truth if it's all lies damned if I know where it's all a disguise

I see the east
worship the ground the stars & ancient archives
I see the west
living on a faith for most of their lives

worship the ground the stars & ancient archives
I see the west
I see the north Everybody looks inside of their minds and in the south kneeling to the devices your life defines

I see the east
living on a faith for most of their lives
