Hey you believers
And all you dreamers
I've come to see this differently
I've lost faith in numbers
And changes in weather
And I'm feeling the tear in things

Heaven to believe in
Beauty and meaning
You made me feel like more than me
What comes in an instant
Is gone in a moment
And then nothing else can be

But I've always believed in the angel on my shoulder
And the sweetness that comes with changes in weather
So let's close the drapes
And dance like we're strangers to time
'Til our fountain runs dry
