

Greymatter

"Hands On Fire"

Visit "Hands On Fire" on MotoLyrics.com

I will not lay down and just go to sleep, without Thinking of you, and thinking of me, it's a suicide pain,
But just without taking the pills, as I turn my head
To the side where you were, well I swear I can see
You just like before, and as I clench my hands,
To wake myself up before sleeping.

Am I damned now to pray that I'm somewhere
That I cannot be? And, I'm standing in silence at Crossroads that I cannot take, and it's taken the Best part of everything I ever had, and it's out of My hands, and my hands are on fire, and I will
Be somewhere but not there today...

I catch my breath as I picture your face, every Smile that you gave me is somehow replaced by
This permanent nightmare, that I've never Seen met before, and your making me crawl and
Your making me sweat just to break through that Centre, my bitter regret, it's not leaving me slowly
The faster I run it's behind me...

Visit Greymatter page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.