See this change is what I want Subtle change is what I need So I'm moving without that witness The doubting voice inside of me
And if this is what it takes then I can see

I'll be fine
when every thought's escaping slowly out my head
I'll be fine
with everything that I believe
I'll be fine
'cos I've got everything I need inside of me and I won't be lonely when you're looking right at me I'm starting over again

Should we stand outside just to look in?
To see if we get a greater view?
'Cos when you understand what you're missing Then you can radiate what is new And if this is what it takes then I can see that.
