She'll tell you that she loves you, make you feel just like a kid
She'll cry to you and lie to you, she'll do 'most anything She'll get right up next to you and the first thing that you know You'll be telling her you're sorry because she hurt you so I said she's evil the most evil girl I've found There ain't no doubt about it, she's the meanest girl in town

She'll invite you over to her house at half past nine You'll wear a suit, you'll wear a tie and you'll give your shoes a shine
You'll take a real deep breath and knock on her front door
Her little sister will tell you "She don't live here anymore"
I said she's evil the most evil girl I've found There ain't no doubt about it, she's the meanest girl in

And there ain't no doubt about it, she's the meanest girl in town

She'll put her arms around you and squeeze with all her might She'll breathe a sigh and pucker her lips and pull your arms real tight
Your heart will pound like thunder, you'll melt in her embrace
But when you go to kiss her well she'll laugh right in your face
Because she's evil the most evil girl I've found There ain't no doubt about it, she's the meanest girl in
