It whispers through the night it calls for salvation I'm running to the source of the rising sun feeling that the time has come for all nations to be yeyeh being on the run for right right - for our right show who who you really are see through all that's untrue eyeh we are not far away not far people on the streets we all need forgiveness people everywhere are craving for love I pray through all my pain for a better solution oh my God keep my soul for I am on the run for light light we need so much light we need to show who we really are see through this dark night eyey we are not far away not far lies lies - no more lies weak up and open your mind Feel this human spirit

It is love love that you will find
