You think you're an enigma
But your life's not a mystery
Look again at your horizon
Just an endless black sea
Tell me how
Did your life get so low?
For every single sound you've made
Remains unknown
Take everything
You'll never catch on
Change your life
Turn your back, run
Like everyone you do have a purpose
I'm glad you're alive
You're kind enough to show everyone
What its like to want to die
The right word is on the tip of your tongue
You just forgot to say it
The zest for life has been abated
Ignore the truth and you'll never make it
Your house of cards is falling down
One suit at a time
So what do you say?
Everything has gone away
And you don't mind
Like everyone you do have a purpose
I'm glad you're alive
You're kind enough to show everyone
What its like to want to die
You keep running from your life when you find
The people you betray have become unkind
Something has escaped your heart and mind
Are you blind?
Fuck you fraud
