One side of the mirror's who you are.
The other side is who you want to be.
And when you're through wishing you were more,
You can settle back and let your Father breathe.

I've been warned.

And between the eyes, You get me every time.
I've wrapped myself in fear, now I can't shine.
Between the eyes, You get me every time.
Get me outta here. Check me outta here.
I wanna shine.

I can see a hundred miles away,
But I can't see what's right before my eyes.
And when I'm through trying to be brave,
I realize that all my courage dies.

I'm going on, if I'm wrong, You'll walk with me.

I wanna shine.
