Now I will just smile just to know you followed me willingly over bridges I have burnt just to see you drown in the pain I have bled your misery is the sweetest victory all alone and withered away still dying I stand strong showing fear is for the weak your ignorance will oppress you showing fear is for the weak crushing your dreams and the hope you life for showing fear is for the weak I bleed for no one showing fear is for the weak agony will slowly break you down ignore your plea for innocence fate has won your life lying in ruin bury you with your treachery.
