"Go With God"

Seemed like a chill swept the room
As you slowly broke the news
And shock spread across each face
Disbelief is soon replaced with blank stares
Into nowhere
And though I knew this day would come
I'm not ready to be left undone
And some say that nothing good can last
How quickly time has passed
It hurts, you know
To see you go

But don't look to the right or to the left
Set your gaze to what lies ahead
There are trails to blaze and memories to make
And so whatever it takes

Go with God
If you can't stay
I'd be a fool to stand in your way
And go with God
And follow 'til
'Til you find yourself in the middle of his will

No one could take the place you have among us
Or fill the void left in your wake
And all that you've done here will not be soon forgotten
But you can't be contained in the pictures we take

So don't you look to the right or to the left
Set your gaze to what lies ahead
There are trails to blaze and memories to make
And so whatever it takes

Go with God
If you can't stay
I'd be a fool to stand in your way
And go with God
And follow 'til
'Til you find yourself in the middle of his will

Roll on
Roll on
Roll on my friend
Roll on
Roll on
Roll on

It hurts, you know
To see you go
Go with God
Go with God

Who knows what tomorrow holds?
Who knows what tomorrow holds?
Who knows what tomorrow holds?
But I know who holds tomorrow

And though I knew this day would come...
