The city lights, the pretty lights,
They can warm the coldest nights.
All the people going places,
Smiling with electric faces.
What they find the glow erases,
And what they loose the glow replaces, and life is love

In a neon rainbow, a neon rainbow.

Moving lines, flashing signs,
Blinking faster than the minds.
Leading people with suggestions,
Leaving no unanswered questions.
You can live without direction,
And it don't hav' to be perfection, and life is love

In a neon rainbow, a neon rainbow.

But in the daytime everything changes,
Nothing remains the same.
No one smiles anymore,
And no one will open his door
Until the night time comes.
And then the ...

City lights, the pretty lights,
They can warm the coldest nights.
All the people going places,
Smiling with the electric faces.
What they find the glow erases,
And what they loose the glow replaces, and life is love

In a neon rainbow, a neon rainbow, a neon rainbow
