Just because you went another way
Doesn't mean you aren't my everything
I've been thinking 'bout you everyday
Trust me...

Save yourself there's nothing here to hold you now

In the shadow of the overpass
I can see everything is a mess
If you're happy honey raise your glass
Throw it back, here it snap, oh how you've
Fractured my heart once again
Fractured my heart once again

Just because you've gone another road
Doesn't mean that you don't have a home
You have a piece of me to call your own
You know

Save yourself there's nothing left to tell I'm blacking out your memories, I'm casting out your spell
Save yourself there's nothing left to hold you down

In the shadow of the overpass
I can see everything is a mess
If you're happy honey raise your glass
And throw it back, hear it snap, oh how you've
Fractured my heart once again
Fractured my heart once again

In your own way you had just said everything
In your own way you just ran away from me
In your own way you had just said everything
In your own way
In your own way
In your own way!!!

Fractured my heart once again
Fractured my heart once again
