I know you're gone but you're still in my head
I know that you and I will soon meet again

All this time passing by me
Use it wisely cause' you're not here to stay
This time now to heal this
I don't see it, but you're in a better place

Just move on, you'd say
Cause somebody needs you
Just move on, I've tried
But I just want to see you

I know you're gone but you're still in my head
I know that you and I will soon meet again
I know you're gone but you're still in my head
I know that you and I will soon meet again

You were always the best one
And you left us with the memory of your name

Now I can't revive you
But tonight you were with us anyway

Just move on, you'd say
Cause somebody needs you
Just move on, I've tried
But I just want to see you

I know you're gone but you're still in my head
I know that you and I will soon meet again
And every time that I hear your name
You might be alive but you're so far away

Just move on, you'd say
Just move on, I've tried

I know you're gone but you're still in my head
I know that you and I will soon meet again
And every time that I hear your name
You might be alive but you're so far away
