now and again
we'll leave
we'll fly
we'll go out on a limb
do we really care
or are we still struggling to swim i don't know why we can't just live with the weight of your heart

moments like these trust me
they'll come back to haunt you i know better to be the first to leave than the last one to go and i can't be the one to tell you to end or to stop

our past,
slides through the hourglass,
pushing the first to last
where at last i begin

our past,

our past,

we'll go out on a limb
