I'm moving out today, got to get away
I've got to find a place to settle down
I've had enough of this. I've got to find a place
Where people care for me and don't put me down
It might sound silly, but you're the cause of this
'Cause I can't take the way you run around
I must admit I've had my share of fun
But that's all over now it's time to run

Because you've got me
Running around in circles
I'm running around in circles
Running around-
I'm looking for you

I've been away now just over a year
And I must tell you, I can't settle down
I thought I'd write to you just to let you hear
About my story; don't put it down

Because you've got me
Running around in circles
I'm running around in circles
Running around-
I'm looking for you
