

Hanks, The

"I Know"

Visit "I Know" on MotoLyrics.com

As we drive through the starlight-drenched hills in her car,
I wish I could feel this without coming so far.
And the glow of the city won't ever compare, to the feel of this night
as wind blows through our hair.

I know I've lost more than I've ever had. I know your kindness is more than a fad. I know I can call you when I feel sad.

There's a chill in the air as the autumn draws near, as we walk and you do the things that I hold dear. The way you laugh the way you think of everyone before yourself, and in your heart there's more kindness than one song could tell.

Visit Hanks, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.