from the first bell i hear i am only grinding gears in this daily machine trading life for efficiency but the quiet that keeps in the moment before sleep my heart yet survives and i remember i'm alive

if i could feel this way when my unconsciousness breaks
and i am released from my dreams and the blind obscurity
i believe i could change i could change

clarity sharp and quick cutting through the thin and thick only truth still remains to expose comforting pain

[chorus]

how did this happen?
i was so easily tricked out of my dreams will i ever like myself?

[chorus]
