You stand on your platform and present your views
You hand out your opinion like it's the daily news
While your checkin' your look in the mirror
From your head down to your shoes
But you don't know

A better way, a better way to save the world

Your are not my conscience and you are not my keeper
I ain't no saint, I ain't no saviour, but brother you ain't either
So let's leave the judgments up to Jesus and St. Peter
'Cause you don't know

A better way, a better way to save the world

So before you accuse me take a look at yourself
You're just as lost and confused as everybody else
And a man never looks behind a door he hasn't stood behind himself
And you don't know

A better way, a better way to save the world
