This morning crawls
My motivation's been snowed in
And I finally caught that glimpse of the edge I've been avoiding
So try your best to keep these bullets from my chest
As I wipe the blood out from your sweat,
Talking seems useless, doesn't it?

Live through, live strong
Carry on and on and on
No more false-start life at traffic lights

Like trying to shake a dream you might not quite remember completely
We're killing ourselves to live
Inhale, exhale unlike everybody
We've just been bleeding
Feel the cold swell in your throat
When this shit is getting old

Live through, live strong
Carry on and on and on
No more false-start life at traffic lights
No
Live through, live strong
Carry on and on and on
No more false-start life

Don't disagree that what we've come to ain't so pretty
And all I can think is we're begging for change in our own way
Cry knowing I'm the one who let you down when leaving town
A moment of clarity

Don't let it tear out your throat
After chasing lines all fucking night
And the wrongs you shouldn't write about
I speak from experience of all of the fear in us

Live through, live strong
Carry on and on and on

No more false-start life at traffic lights
No
Live through, live strong
Carry on and on and on
No more false-start life
