

The Band Geek Mafia

"Facelift"

Visit "Facelift" on MotoLyrics.com

Prove it, prove that, you can't prove a thing
It would never be the same I can't explain And hope you can forgive me someday Realize that I was so stupid

I want the best for you
Never meant to hurt you in any way
I want the best for you
A consequence of my yearning

you told me about the unexpected
I told you about the things I've been searching for
And the sky turned gray once more. So Break that!

You knock me down and I can't get up
Let me fall endless I've got a facelift, a facelift
you're rising higher, you rise above me
you're rising higher

Always used to call you little princess always used to sleep with you side by side I took advantage of your good naturalness
My conscience's killing me now!

Hold on believe in you
Never meant to hurt you in any way
hold on believe in you
a consequence of my yearning

you told me about the unexpected
I told you about the things I've been searching for
And the sky turned gray once more. Break that!

You knock me down and I can't get up
Let me fall endless I've got a facelift, a facelift
you're rising higher, you rise above me
you're rising higher

