"Love Alone"

Love, like a candle in a windstorm
Left me all alone in darkness
With no one to kiss me gently
Love, and you'll always love alone

Love, like the foam of the ocean
Has gone slipping through my fingers
But her memory still lingers
Love, and you'll always love alone
She said her heart was mine to keep
I took her for my own
But then she left
Took back her heart
And now I love alone

Love, like the mist on the water
Has deceived and left me crying
With its heartache and its lying
Love, and you'll always love alone

Always love alone
