And we're getting so fed up
With pushing over a brick wall
And resistance is futile and we don't give a damn at all Nothing's going to stop us, we don't have reason to stay
So why am I leaving without a plan? Because I can.
And I've been stuck here my whole life
Protected in this ball of glass
But I was the outsider because I never kissed their ass
I've been meaning to tell you, I don't have a reason to
So why am I leaving without a plan? Because I can We've got the elite driving us out of housing
Gentrified the streets
Got no soul
Full of nothing
So full of nothing
I've been meaning to tell you
I don't have a reason to stay
And I'm getting so close to becoming one of them
I've been meaning to tell you I don't have a reason to
stay
So why am I leaving without a plan? Without a plan...
