This house, she's holding secrets. I got my change behind the bed, In a coffee can I throw my nickels in,
Just in case I have to leave.

And I will go if you ask me to I will stay if you dare. If I go, I'm going shameless Let my hunger take me there.

This house, she's quite the talker, She creeks and moans, she keeps me up. And the photographs know I'm a liar, They just laugh as I burn her down.

And I will go if you ask me to I will stay if you dare. If I go, I'm going on fire Let my anger take me there.

And the shingles, man they're shaking The backdoor's burning through. This whole house, she's quite the keeper. Quite the keeper of you.

And I will go if you ask me to I will stay if you dare. If I go, I'm going crazy Let my darling take me there.

If I go I'm going crazy, Let my darling take me there.
