Barks the dog, in the kitchen
There's someone knockin' on my back door
Woke me up, late this morning
As if I hadn't slept already enough
If I won the lotto, I'd be much better off
Can't predict the future, money would be lost

Such a long way to go
Much farther than we have come
Such a long way to go
Search is over 'cause I found someone

Rings the phone, on the desk there
I pour my cup, I race to pick it up
Say hello, how are you friend?
Let's talk a while now while we can

I remember Waveland
Repelled against the walls
Distance now between us
Will strengthen us that more

Such a long way to go
Much farther than we have come
Such a long way to go
Search is over 'cause I found someone
