I'm sitting here
By myself
Head hanging down
It's been two hours
Since I told you I was gone
Well I'm messed up
In the head
Masochistic sacrifice
And I don't deserve her anymore

So long, so long
I'm gone
Let the devil take the blame

I've been chewing glass
Watching every car pass my house at steady speeds
She's a ghost to me, ever presently away
But I've made my mind up
I refuse to wind up
With a heart that won't love
I just need to be alone
Lock the door unplug the phone
I'm saying goodbye for good

So long, so long
I'm gone
Let the devil take the blame
So long, so long
I'm gone
Let the devil take the blame

I can't erase the pictures of the people we once were,
Line the bed where we would,
Touch each other's souls with sweat and skin,
I still remember every time you pulled me down and held me in
Oh my God, my God I know I'd feel ashamed
But the devil took the blame
