We had our day in the sun
And it was a good day
You thought maybe I was the one
And I felt the same way
But now the walls are crumbling down around us
And there ain't nothing to say
The incomprehensible is happening
You're running away

One mistake and you lose all faith in me
One bad slip and you end the whole damn trip

Chorus:
I'm sensing your frustration
And I'm gathering you doubt me
If it's any consolation
It ain't easy to say, but hey
Maybe you're better off without me.

You write in indelible ink
Words filled with hatred
Without ever stopping to think
You lose something sacred
But you were just reacting to my ignorance
I guess I put it there on purpose
All you ever asked of me was to be honest
Instead I just got nervous

One mistake and you lose your faith in me
One bad slip and you end the whole damn trip

Chorus
