As I travel down the path of least resistance I don't stop To wonder what it's all about Money talks and beauty fades and misery loves company, but hey
It ain't mine to figure out

There are no fundamental answers to the fundamental questions It's a mystery beyond my skills of deduction, file it under "I don't know, so don't ask me I don't know

As I live and breathe and search for something to believe in I'll put my trust in you Talk is cheap and love is blind, but what you see is what you get sometimes In between the far and few

There are no fundamental answers

I tossed and turned until I learned To live and let the details slide

There are no fundamental answers
