Take the darkest of the darkest nights
Combine it with the brightest of the sun's bright rays
And you'll see what I see in my head
What I see every day

From the pit of despair
To the arch of euphoric transcendence
I'm the middle man monkey, the misery junkie
The cat walking barbed wire fences

And I've been searching high and low
Yeah, up and down and carrying my heavy load
High and low and up and down and all around
Been trying to find the middle road

Well, I've been trying to find it
Well, I've been trying to find it

Whenever God shines his light
Well, I put on my best sunglasses
Any truth that shines through, for a moment, I view
But of course, then the moment, it passes

And I'm standing alone again
At the crossroads of my melodrama
With my heart in my hand, dumb and silent, I stand
Like some dime store Dalai Lama

I've been searching high and low
Yeah, up and down and carrying my heavy load
High and low and up and down and all around
Been trying to find the middle road

Well, I've been trying to find it
Well, I've been trying to find it

Angel, devil, it's all the same
Each one knows me by name
Each one knows me
They all know me by name

Come, the morning of my soul's dark night

When I've laid to rest these ghosts that haunt me
With sweet tenderness, I will kiss your red lips
Not the past or the future shall daunt me

But that day ain't here just yet
Oh, I'm stuck here on this roller coaster
With my hands in the air, on a wing and a prayer
Hoping it's taking me closer

I've been searching high and low
Oh, up and down and carrying my heavy load
High and low and up and down and all around
Been trying to find the middle road

Oh baby, I've been searching high and low
Oh, up and down and carrying my heavy load
High and low and up and down and all around
Been trying to find the middle road

Well, I'm still trying to find it
Well, I'm still trying to find it
Well, I've been trying to find the middle road
Well, I've been trying to find it, yeah

Well, I've been trying to find the middle road
Well, I've been trying to find the middle road
Well, I'm still trying to find it
