Don't get me wrong, though I lost my sight I can see

That all you need to be is without this one

I've done my time, I'm sure you've done yours

And I have found as the train pulls out of town

I did love someone

And I've been calling, I've been calling you

And I've been calling, I've been calling

But what do I do now when all of my dreams

All of my dreams hit the ground?

Don't get me wrong, I don't want to fight

But all my fears are now ringing

In my ears like cathedral bells

And I've been calling, I've been calling you

And I've been calling, I've been calling

But what do I do now when all of my dreams

All of my dreams hit the ground?
