I have never lived
I have never loved
I have never known the truth
And my eyes are set on you

I have never dreamt
I have never tried
I have never known the truth
And my eyes are set on you

Oh, if I can't figure you out then nobody will
If only you could learn to feel
You live without love
You live without lust
You live without trial
You live without trust
Whoa, and you will never be alone
You will never be alone

I have never seen
I have never heard
I have never known the truth
And my eyes are set on you

I have never bled
I have never bruised
I have never known the truth
And my eyes are set on you

Oh, if I can't figure you out then nobody will
If only you could learn to feel
You live without love
You live without lust
You live without trial
You live without trust
Whoa, and you will never be alone
You will never be alone

Oh, if I can't figure you out then nobody will
If only you could learn to feel
You live without love

You live without lust
You live without trial
You live without trust
Whoa, and you will never be alone
You will never be alone

Now it won't be too long til the end of the road
Yeah, it won't be too long til the end of the road
Yeah, it won't be too long til the end of the road
Yeah, it won't be too long til the end of the road, oh

You know it won't be long, yeah, you know it won't be long
Yeah, you know it won't be long, yeah, you know it won't be long

No, it won't be too long til the end of the road
For as long as you're here, all that glitters is gold
