Here we are, a little bit closer now
Every memory that we had is slowly fading out
And even if you think you're having a bad day.

Here we are, a little bit further now
Every step we take we have to find a new way out
And everything is just about to come undone.

Baby I think you've had enough,
The hardest part of sleeping is waking up
And you know I care for you so much
I'd never let this happen if you were in my arms.

Here we are, a little bit louder now
Your lips are moving but there's nothing even coming out
So speak up so I can hear your voice again

Well here we are, a little bit further now
When every step we take we have to find a new way out
Now can you just live your life?
It makes me want to scream.

'Cause baby I think you've had enough,
The hardest part of sleeping is waking up
You know I care for you so much
I'd never let this happen if you were in my arms.

Baby I think you've had enough,
The hardest part of sleeping is waking up
You know I care for you so much
I'd never let this happen if you were in my arms.

Baby I think you've had enough
(Baby I think you've had enough)
The hardest part of sleeping
(Baby I think you've had enough)
Is waking up
(Baby I think you've had enough)
You know I care for you so much
(Baby I think you've had enough)
I'd never let this happen

(Baby I think you've had enough)
If you were in my arms
If you were in my arms
If you were in my arms.
