Some still believe, but others like me, see what's inside.

A scapegoat for reasons why, and wishes washed away.

At times like these, I guess best for us this way.

Upset and forgotten, are your only prayers

Knelt and barely breathing,
Your battered heart has kept you from screaming out loud.

Knelt and barely breathing,
Your battered heart has kept you from screaming...

And as much as we all, want to just blame you,
I know the truth. I know the answer.

And as much as we all, want to just blame you,
I know the truth. I know the answer.

Your shattered plea never stood a chance.
Constantly cursing him and wondering what you did to deserve this today.

Reasons will never be the same to you.

Some still believe, but others like me, see what's inside.

A scapegoat for reasons why, and wishes washed
away.

At times like these, I guess best for us this way.

But one thing I forgot to say is,
"I'll live life knowing I can change today"
