Desert dry and tired, sleeping underneath the stars.
Longing for, but still laughing the whole time,
That piece that makes you "home."

Spiral downward. Mesmerized the way down

Destiny sure had a plan for me.
It's nothing new for some of you,
A siren's song to get you through.

All the while, never knowing "it could be worse."
I just wish we didn't have to sing this song first.

Destiny sure had a plan for me.
It's nothing new for some of you,
A siren's song to get you through.
So once again

I'll yell some sad, sorry,
And not so sympathetic story,
A long list of letdowns and loves lost.

I'll only let it ruin today...
