Morphine

Ripping tongues unsharpened ones always will betray
Rapping words along without a reason
Stripping eyes are barbed-wire that only cut skin deep
A single glance alone is act of treason

Whipping lines are never lies so never let it slip
We're only safe with a mind on standby

O no, I can't take another round of you
(Why can't you get the hell out of my face?)

I need another shot morphine
(So that I can retain you state of grace)
Not your remission of my sins

Dripping sweats of all regrets that can't be made undone
Falling not alone when we judge you

O no, I can't take another round of you
(Why can't you get the hell out of my face?)

I need another shot morphine
(So that I can retain you state of grace)
Not your remission of my sins

O no, I can't take another round of you
(Why can't you get the hell out of my face?)

I need another shot morphine
(Why can't you get the hell out of my face?
I don't need to retain you state of grace)
Not your remission of my sins
(Why can't you get the hell out of my face?
I don't need to retain you state of grace)
I need another shot morphine
(Why can't you get the hell out of my face?
I don't need to retain you state of grace)
Not your remission of my sins

(Why can't you get the hell out of my face?
I don't need to retain you state of grace)
