you couldn't hold your drink to save your life it's a mercy that none of you can drive just strut around pouting and looking wide eyed like this is britpop circa 1995 well meanswear split and pulp are gone and now everyone likes garage rock you dance like a dad at a disco what would morrissey say?

put your face around on a night on the tiles it's all charm and bad toothed smiles as long as you're tapping your toes then its alright all the underage girls are digging your style and your pointy leather shoes are a fucking lie
as long as you're tapping your toes then it's alright

you dance like a dad a dad at a disco what would morrissey say?
