

Jay Matthew

"A World Away"

Visit "A World Away" on MotoLyrics.com

Tell me when you're coming
So I can come too
The blood is rushing to my head
Caused by you
The congregation left the church
They won't be going very far today
Want you to be lying easy
Getting a world away

Why you started running?
You're glowing so fine
The happy and you know it look
Is in decline
You should be listening to your mum
She only wants the best for everyone
Your ocean eyes are glazing over
I think that means you won

And I like you, I hear you say
Not surprising, for the time of day
Very welcome, all the same
Any more of this chemical love, I'll forget my name

Tell me when you're coming
So I can come too
The blood is rushing to my head
Caused by you
The congregation left the church
It must be for the second time today
Need you to be lying easy
'Cos I'm a world away

Visit Jay Matthew page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.