Sorry I caught tails and left you with the head, Sorry I laughed when I said that it looked like he was dead,
You never know how you react 'til you're in the shoes
just stepped in shit,
In hindsight I could I say I'm sorry the reaction didn't fit.

You don't know what you'll do until it's done.

Sorry I didn't call you right away,
You can call it shock or stupidity it's all the same,
It wouldn't have made a difference anyway
But that won't stop me from beating myself up again and again

You don't know what you'll do until it's done.

Early check out before your time,
Jaw locked shut so as not to reveal your dentists smile,
Spider webs and honeycomb,
Veins like road maps to all the places you'll never go.

You don't know what you'll do until it's done,
Mistakes you'll make can never be undone.
