Don't get me wrong, though I lost my sight I can see
That all you need to be is without this one
I've done my time, I'm sure you've done yours
And I have found as the train pulls out of town
I did love someone

And I've been calling, I've been calling you
And I've been calling, I've been calling
But what do I do now when all of my dreams
All of my dreams hit the ground?

Don't get me wrong, I don't want to fight
But all my fears are now ringing
In my ears like cathedral bells

And I've been calling, I've been calling you
And I've been calling, I've been calling
But what do I do now when all of my dreams
All of my dreams hit the ground?
