Did you think this could happen, did you think you were warm Holding my body for ransom, is just an idea to try and even the score
A habits' so hard to break, I'm planning my big escape So did you think this could happen, my body falls to the floor
And if I get put to rest, this is my last request If life goes on don't ever sell yourself for something you'll regret

And where building this higher and higher we go,
Like a crash course through the rain where do we lose control
I'm waiting on the signal from the top of the world is anybody out there

You can't fight the feeling, and what were we thinking
You can't fight the feeling, you get from fading out And what were we thinking, cause I've come to far to still get shut down

And where building this higher and higher we go,
Like a crash course through the rain where do we lose
I'm waiting on the signal from the top of the world is anybody out there

Waiting on the resolution, try to take control (Take a chance on the ones you lose, you do and they just keep on laughing)
Waiting on the resolution, try to take control (Take a chance the ones you do, you lose and they just keep on making it up)

Waiting on the resolution, try to take control (Take a chance on the ones you lose, you do and they just keep on laughing)
Waiting on the resolution, try to take control (Take a chance the ones you do, you lose and they just keep on making it up)

And where building this higher and higher we go,
Like a crash course through the rain where do we lose
I'm waiting on the signal from the top of the world is anybody out there
